

(Tonight) Our World Has Changed

Have you heard about Caesar?
They killed him today
Stabbed in the Senate
Lifeless his body lay

Cassius, Brutus and the others
Have murdered Rome's favorite son
Calpurnia's dream saw blood and
The Ides of March have come

I was a witness – I watched him die
I saw the daggers – I heard his cry

Tonight our world has changed
Everywhere – panic and fear
And I need your comfort now
Be here with me

Tonight our world has changed
Don't know where we go from here
But I know that I need you now
You're all I have

Napoleon's armies have struck
Our country is under siege
Soldiers dead and dying
While others break and flee

There is terror in the city
While the countryside is laid waste
People growing frantic
Leaving everything in haste

I was a witness – I watched them die
I saw their cannon – I heard the cries

Tonight our world has changed
Everywhere – panic and fear
And I need your comfort now
Be here with me

Tonight our world has changed
Don't know where we go from here

But I know that I need you now
You're all I have

The motorcade slows down
And makes it's leftward turn
Passing 'neath a window
Then I heard the powder burn

Sudden screams of horror
Rise and hold the air
A young man slumping forward
Leaves Camelot without an heir

I was a witness – I watched him die
I heard the gunshot – I heard them cry

Tonight our world has changed
Everywhere – panic and fear
And I need your comfort now
Be here with me

Tonight our world has changed
Don't know where we go from here
But I know that I need you now
You're all I have
