

Scared of Losing You

You look the same, but something's changed
And I wonder what that means for me
Everything I thought I had
I could lose just in losing you
What I mean or am trying to say,
Is you are everything to me
 So maybe it's just that I'm scared of losing you

Morning Light encases you
In a shining cast of gold
As the day passes by
I watch you as you're moving around
And now the night engulfing us
Brings us both into its fold
 Yes, maybe it's just that I'm scared of losing you

I guess it's true
Well I'm not the jealous type but girls like you are few
And I'm scared of losing you

Look what you do to me	And try to understand
How You make a better man of me	Than even you had planned
Well, You know it's only you I need	To be a contented man
Realize what you mean to me	And I know you'll understand

You look the same, but something's changed
And I wonder what that means for me
Everything I thought I had
I could lose just in losing you
What I mean or am trying to say,
Is I hope that you love me too
